FRENCH POLICE, SECRET

By James F. Clarity Of The Herald Tribune Staff PARIS.

The de Gaulle government alimitted yesterday that French officials were involved ir the Ben Barka scandal...

After a meeting of President de Gaulle and his Cabinet, it was announced that the police department and the secret service were being administratively reshuffled. It was also d selosed that Gen. Paul Jacquier, chief of the secret service, was being retired.

His successor is Gen. Eugene Quibaud, who once served as military intelligence chief in French Indochina.

Information Minister Yvon Hourges, in announcing Gen Jacquier's retirement, said he already was six month beyond he normal retirement age
